Restaurant Management and Technology Management

Your Degree Option
K-State at Salina offers a Bachelor of Science degree in Technology Management through distance education. This degree completion program is designed for students who have completed the Restaurant Management program at Butler Community College. The Technology Management degree provides a solid understanding of the fundamental areas in management: finance, accounting, business, and marketing. The curriculum is designed to prepare the student for the diverse environment of the business world as it relates to Restaurant Management. By combining a technical area of concentration with advanced business studies, you can be a professional who has the practical and leadership skills to move forward in business.

Your Career
The Restaurant Management Program can prepare students to plan, manage, and market restaurants, food services in hospitality establishments, food service chains and franchise operations. By coupling this degree with Technology Management, graduates are prepared for supervisory and management positions in a variety of restaurant venues. Graduates can use their management and business skills to help further their careers, as they will understand how to hire and supervise employees, train new employees, train new supervisors and managers, plan budgets, and manage inventory.

Get started!
The degree map on the reverse page will show you a listing of classes you need to take from Butler Community College and K-State to complete the Restaurant Management and Technology Management 2+2. This degree map has been reviewed and accepted by both schools as an illustration, which is subject to change. Many other combinations of courses may be possible, so students should contact a K-State representative or their community college advisor before committing to a particular transfer program.

To get started, contact the K-State 2+2 representative by calling 620-786-1188 or e-mail jdunn@k-state.edu.
